Not urban intervention

Creation of a system that considers all the social and critical issues characterizing a spa elements already analysed in the research on the space of the historic centre of Florence, directed by the UNESCO Office of Florence and not urban interactive

Objective is to organise an interactive tool, based on open source platforms, which would allow users to perform guided simulations. These would make immediately clear and intuitive the environmental impact of the proposed installation. Thus, the user would be able to decide immediately between various proposals, and the proposer can assess the feasibility of his own offer. Moreover, it would streamline procedures for the grant and management of the events calendar regarding public space.
